Mechanical "Cow" At Uranium City

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (BUP)—A "mechanical cow" is solving the milk supply problem in this far-northern uranium centre.

Uranium City's newest industry is a plant in which powered milk is being reconstructed, pasteurized, homogenized and bottled mechanically.

Present production is just under 500 quarts daily, but this is expected to be boosted soon to 1,000 quarts.

The new plant can supply milk to the community at 36 cents per quart delivered, compared with 60 cents per quart for milk flown here from Edmonton, Alta.

The plant also produces ice cream.

Construction Completed On New Hospital

LAC LA BICHE — All major work in the construction of the new hospital has been completed and painters are now in full swing in the decorating program. Cement curbs and sidewalks have been recently poured.

Plans call for the opening of the 56 bed wing late in September or early October. Lieutenant-Governor J. J. Bowlen and Bishop Lussier of St. Paul have been invited to officially open the hospital.

Couple Harvest Record Honey Crop

ATMORE — Mr. and Mrs. Armand are now in their 21st year of beekeeping and are fully occupied in harvesting a tremendous honey crop. Approximately 35 tons are expected to be removed from the combs this year; the good summer season with an abundance of clover in nearby fields are responsible.

The couple have had as many as 500 hives in "action" this year but at present have 440 boxes. They obtain their supply of bees annually from California and do not winter them as is sometimes done by beekeepers.

Occasionally, Mrs. Armand sends gifts of honey to friends and relatives in Trail and, of course, to California where the bees originally came from. The bulk of the tremendous crop is shipped to Edmonton wholesale houses in five-gallon tins.

MANY NEW FACES IN LEGISLATURE AS HOUSE CONDUCTS BRIEF SESSION

EDMONTON (BUP) — The first session of the 13th Alberta Legislature opened here last week.

The 61-seat house has several new faces and a larger opposition as a result of the June 29th Provincial general election.

Premier E. C. Manning had only 37 members in his Social Credit group compared to 49 when the house was dissolved. And the Liberals will have 15 members instead of four.

Four new cabinet ministers made their first appearance on the front benches. Three members of the Manning Government were defeated in the election. The new ministers are Public Works Minister James Hartley, Economic Affairs Minister A. R. Patrick, Industries and Labor Minister Raymond Reiersen, and Fred Colborne, Minister without portfolio.

One of the main items of business this week is a decision of a bill that would allow producers of agricultural products, except for cattle, to set up their own marketing boards. Committee hearings were being held on the controversial law when Manning called the snap election.

Farm groups, notably the Farmers' Union of Alberta, have demanded that the law apply to cattle as well as other products. However, cattlemen are against being included.

Under the bill, similar to those in operation in other provinces, producers of a certain product would cast ballots in a government-run plebiscite, if they request one, to determine if they wish a marketing board.

Another item of business is the provision of a $50 bonus for all recipients of provincial allowances as a mark of Alberta's 50th birthday.

5-MAN GROUP TO PROBE CHARGES OF OPPOSITION

By T. W. PUE

Premier Manning last week announced membership of the Royal Commission he has appointed to check into Government dealings. This is a result of charges brought against the Social Credit Administration by opposition members during the bitter election campaign fought in June.

As a result of that election, the government majority was greatly reduced and the official opposition headed by Liberal Leader J. Harper Provse was increased from 4 to 15 members. Both Social Credit and Liberal members met in caucus this week, prior to opening of the special legislature to begin regular sittings on Thursday.

At the house opening Lieutenant-Governor Bowlen will read a brief speech from the throne outlining legislation the government plans to introduce. Most of it will be business left over from the last session which ended suddenly with the calling of a snap election.

The Royal Commission, which should have its report ready in time for the opening of the regular legislature in February, 1956, is comprised of the following members: Mr. Justice Hugh John Macdonald of the Alberta Supreme Court, chairman; Dr. G. H. Villett, principal of Alberta College, Edmonton; John Dower, prominent Edmonton businessman; Maurice L. Brown, Calgary businessman; J. H. Galbraith, Ponoka, secretary of the Alberta Municipal Districts Association.

James Mahaffey, Q.C., Edmonton, will be general counsel for the commission.

Money Bank Is Safer For $3,400

EDMONTON (BUP) — A German immigrant who had cached $3,400 in a sealer was convinced by a member of the Edmonton police force that a deposit in the bank would be safer.

A police constable saw the man standing near a telephone pole near 99 street and 72 avenue shortly after midnight Wednesday. Becoming suspicious the constable questioned the man and found he held a glass jar with money wrapped in plastic.

The amount totalled $3,400.

The German immigrant arrived from Germany about a year ago, and told police that he didn't put his money in the bank as in East Germany the banks frequently "went broke" — or closed without explanation.

However, after some convincing, the immigrant was escorted to a downtown bank where he deposited the money. On leaving the bank the immigrant proudly displayed his newly-opened account book and was no longer wary of banks.

Hall Speaks In House

R. E. Hall, newly-elected Liberal member for Athabasca joined the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne to make his maiden speech in the house.

He said he realized more attention should be given to existing roads than to new construction and that Alberta had suffered wet years in which construction and repair had been curtailed.

"But," he said, "some of our roads were washed away during wet years, and the point has been reached in my constituency where the municipal council cannot cope with the situation."

He urged more aid be given by the government. "We can't expect people to remain on the soil if they can't drive their trucks to the farms."

"I feel we lack qualified men to repair and maintain roads," he went on. "I would like to see a system of apprenticeship inaugurated here to attract men into roadbuilding."

EDMONTON TO BE ON LONG-RANGE NEW YORK TO ALASKA FLIGHTS

EDMONTON (BUP) — Donald W. Nyrop, airlines president of Northwest Airlines Incorporated, said in Edmonton, Saturday, that long-range aircraft, flying between New York and Alaska will be in effect before 1960 with Edmonton as the major stop-over.

In the more immediate future, Northwest plans to fly DC-6B's through Edmonton within a year. This aircraft, with a pressurized cabin, will replace the smaller DC-4's now being used by the airlines to Edmonton.

Nyrop said the airlines is seeking permission to operate its Alaska run with stops at both Winnipeg and Edmonton.

At present Northwest flies five flights a week from the US mid-west to Edmonton with one of them going on to Anchorage, Alaska, while it also flies into Winnipeg and back to the US twice a day.

The flight to Alaska would be for international passengers only, as they could not take passengers travelling from one Canadian city to the other.

The airline president said his company has ordered 17 DC-6B's and the larger 72-passenger DC-76's at a cost of $30,000,000 to be delivered from now until September, 1957. The DS-7C's would be used on the long-haul, New York through Edmonton to Alaska run.

Last year the Northwest Airlines carried 5,000 Edmonton passengers for an average of 18 passengers boarding the plane at Edmonton.

Nyrop also pointed out that his airline and one other major trans-ocean US company, has been able to drop the US Government subsidy on international routes.

FORMER VEGREVILLE MAN MAKES SUCCESSFUL PHONE CALL TO RUSSIA

Thirty-four hours after placing the long-distance call to Kharkov, Ukraine, R. Goldsand, Edmonton business man, talked to his brother-in-law.

The call was placed Monday at 9 p.m. It was finally completed at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

"It certainly was a strange sensation. The operator at Kharkov kept repeating 'keep talking. Your party hears you clearly.' We talked for about eight minutes," Mr. Goldsand said in an interview Friday.

The call, routed through New York, London and Moscow, was on a radio-telephone circuit, he added.

"It took a while to get used to the idea that you have to talk for a while and then switch over and let the other party talk," he added.

Mr. Goldsand said he talked freely to his relatives and there seemed to be no censorship.

"We know the limitations. And anyway all we wanted to find out is how our relatives in the Ukraine are doing. We left there to come to Canada in 1938."

During the Second World War the Goldsands lost touch with their relatives in Russia and asked help of the International Red Cross in locating them. Mr. Goldsand's brother-in-law, who is an accountant, was found in Siberia.

"We corresponded regularly until about 1948 and then we didn't hear from them again until we phoned."

Mr. Goldsand and his family emigrated from the Ukraine in 1938. They farmed for several years at Vegreville, 60 miles east of here, before moving to Edmonton.

I didn't think it possible to make such a phone call. But we had a visitor from New York who told us calls were being made from there," Mr. Goldsand said.

The cost of the call: $32—$12 for the first three minutes and $4 for each additional minute.

The truck and the load of pop was damaged considerably.

WI Hold 15th Anniversary Meeting

FIVE POINT — On August 11, this branch met at the home of Mrs. D. Clark with the president, Mrs. J. te Kamp in the chair. There were seven members and three visitors, Mrs. Bob Clark, Mrs. H. Modin and Mrs. M. Smith, in attendance.

Roll call response was interesting, with each member telling what she was doing at the age of 20.

Mrs. Wm. McCauley read her delegate's report of the district conference and Mrs. R. M. Calder read an article by Nellie McClung on the life of Mrs. Adams, president of FWIC.

After a pleasant space of discussion and remembering anecdotes of pioneer days in our branch, lunch was served, highlight of which was a prettily decorated birthday cake topped with 15 candles.

Extent of their injuries is not known but it is understood that Mr. Thiessen received a broken leg and that Mrs. Thiessen's injuries were more serious. They were both flown to the University Hospital, Edmonton, for treatment.

It is reported that a car attempted to pass the one driven by Mr. Thiessen as he was passing a car proceeding in the opposite direction. He was unable to pass and hit the Thiessen car knocking it into the path of the other car. It is understood the car was completely wrecked but further details were not available at press time.

Returns From Far North

SUNSET HOUSE—After spending the past two months 300 miles from the Arctic ocean, Nick Seweryn has returned home for the harvest. Nick left the early part of May for an oil camp southwest of Fort Simpson. The party took off from Edmonton by plane, then up the Liard river by boat, the boat trip taking six days.

Once in the drilling camp, travel was done by helicopter. During the stay there, Nick visited the falls in Headless Valley. They are a very impressive sight, he stated, there being a drop of some 170 feet.

Vegetation was scarce and the beaver lived chiefly on a vine-like plant, which looked like a cross between a turnip and a pineapple.

The heat also reached this far northern spot and the temperature reached 105 degrees. Gardens benefited by the heat, for potatoes planted at the end of May were being dug now.

The midnight sun gave the men enough light to see to play cards all night.

Clothes, Nick said, were no higher in price than here, but flour was $20.00 a hundred, and chocolate bars were 30 cents.

The party returned to Edmonton by plane from Fort Nelson.

Ben was born in Heart, Ont. and was 13 years old.

The funeral service was held at his home with Rev. Howard Killick (Baptist) officiating, on Wednesday afternoon, August 10.

Ben left to mourn his loss his loving father and mother and five sisters and two brothers.

Blow-Out Sends Car Into Ditch

FAUST — A serious accident occurred recently to a Faust resident, Vic Woollard. Mr. Woollard, accompanied by two passengers, one of whom needed medical aid, was driving his new car to High Prairie when a sharp rock apparently cut into one of the tires, causing a blow-out.

In order to avoid crashing into an oncoming vehicle, Mr. Woollard managed to keep the car pretty much in its own path. However, it did veer too close to the ditch and rolled on its side.

Mr. Woollard received a cut on his head but was able to crawl out. The others were helped out with some difficulty. All three escaped with minor injuries though the car was badly damaged.

REDWATER — A. A. Voice, president of the A. A. Voice Construction Co. Ltd. of Edmonton, who are installing Redwater's water and sewer system, making a periodic visit to the job last week, expressed satisfaction with the way the work is progressing.

According to K. Morrison, engineer in charge of the project for Associated Engineering Ltd. of Edmonton, no serious difficulties have been encountered to date. The sewer installation on the south side of the tracks should be completed well ahead of schedule.

The crew laying the transite pipe for the water distribution system are now finishing up the central part of town, and will complete the south side of the tracks before the end of next week.

The tunnel under the CNR tracks for the sewer pipes has now been completed and the connecting installations made.

Drilling crews made tests for the water tower base in the school ground this week, and first cement for the foundations has been poured.

The property for the water towers was purchased by the Town of Redwater from the Thorhild County School Board for the sum of $1, with the approval of the Alberta Government Department of Education.

Oldest Garage Gets Face Lifting

SLAVE LAKE — Mac Wiechert, who has been in the garage business for many years here, is vastly improving his business. He is putting in a concrete floor in his large garage repair shop, remodeling his office, and painting the whole structure.

Mr. Wiechert was in the garage business in the old town in 1935, and when the floods came, everything went down the river. The present garage was started in 1936.

When the new floor is laid it is reported he intends to have a grand opening with a good old square dance.

Northern Motors Open New Garage

VALLEYVIEW — Northern Motors, Purcell and Bates, have started business at their new garage at the old Jay Lassen Imperial stand. The pumps are set up and doors opened and mechanics already at work. However, a delay in getting building material had deferred the finishing.

GRANDE PRAIRIE (BUP) — A $1,000 county-wide Mayweed eradication program under the direction of the agricultural service board was voted by members of the Grande Prairie Council.

G. F. Fawkes, field supervisor of the agricultural service board, said the townships in the Albright area and a large section in the Kleskun County were heavily infested with the plant. Its seed is waterborne rather than airborne and develops its great activity by spreading out from runoff courses.

Wayne Scobie Names Theatre Wins Prize

VALLEYVIEW — James and Reber's new theatre opened July 29. In choosing a name for this theatre they held a contest. To the boy or girl with the best suggestion, a prize of $10.00 was offered. The name Jubilee Theatre was accepted and for it Wayne Scobie carried off the award.

The inside walls, in pink and green stripes, have a very pleasing effect. The front seats may be removed to afford space for dancing. The outside is wired for stucco.

New Reporter Appointments

Miss D. Garrison of Vegreville, well-known to town and district, as a high school teacher, has taken on the part-time job of reporting for the Mannville Mirror. She will write the news each week of the town of Vegreville.

It is expected many district reporters from the western section of the Municipal District will also be appointed. Mrs. John Lowe will write news for the Park Grove district. Due to ill health of Mr. Lowe, the family spend part of each year in California and when away it is likely someone else in the district will write the news.

Interested readers who feel their district is not adequately covered in the news columns of the paper are invited to write in for the job of district reporter.

Fire Brigade Responds Promptly To Alarm

HIGH PRAIRIE — Citizens experienced a few anxious moments when dense smoke was seen coming from behind Vanderaegen's Hardware. However, it proved to be Fire Drill for the local Brigade conducted by A. E. Bridges, Provincial Fire Commissioner, who visited High Prairie on Monday, August 15.

A smoke bomb was put off by the inspector behind Vanderaegen's Hardware and when the smoke was noticed by a citizen the alarm was turned in. The switchboard after turning on the siren, notified Acting-Chief Kenneth Freeman of the location of the fire and advised other members of the brigade. Acting-Chief Freeman and his crew of 13 arrived at the scene of the fire 2 minutes after the siren was blown, and within 2½ minutes had water playing on the fire. They were warmly commended by the inspector for this prompt response, which reflect the drills held by the brigade and the fire prevention talks by Chief Ellis.

Coming activities in connection with Fire Prevention will be the program in connection with Fire Prevention Week, October 9-15. It is hoped to have a Jubilee bonfire in connection with the holiday, September 1.

Mr. Bridges planned to contact Mr. Halbert, principal of the High School in connection with classes in the school. A Fire Prevention text book is provided for every classroom and lessons are prepared which the teachers may use. The text of these lessons can prove very instructive and entertaining.

MINES MINISTER SERIOUSLY ILL AFTER MOUNTAIN EXPEDITION

Hon. George Prudham

Wanted: a "North Country" Assn.

EDMONTON (BUP) — Edmonton Mayor William Hawrelak says an organization along the lines of the association formed to promote the Yellowhead Highway route could help develop the north.

Hawrelak, who recently visited northern centers on a tour sponsored by the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines, suggested the organization could be formed by Chambers of Commerce and similar groups.

The mayor said one of the first jobs of the organization could be to investigate the feasibility of building a railway north from Grimshaw, Alberta, to Pine Point on Great Slave Lake. The end of steel is now at Grimshaw.

The mayor said he believes such a railway extension is economically feasible.

He suggested that a ferry could be provided across Great Slave Lake from Pine Point to Yellowknife. He said a train ferry system is necessary to open up the north.

BANFF — An unidentified Edmonton specialist has been summoned to attend Mines Minister George Prudham, flown into a Banff hospital by helicopter from Lake Llewellyn, suffering from what is believed to be an internal hemorrhage.

The minister accompanied by his two daughters Catherine and Janice, was on a fishing trip when he began to spit blood early Tuesday morning. His guide Bud Brewster called the RCMP after an arduous ride and an Associated Airways helicopter from Jasper was dispatched to bring the minister to Banff.

In Banff, general practitioner P. G. Costigan refused to answer questions about the minister's condition.

Replying to inquiries, Dr. Costigan stated that it is nobody's business how the minister is feeling or what is wrong with him.

"I don't even want to tell you if he will be here a day or a month," the doctor said in an unprovoked outburst. "We don't give out information to the press or anybody and if you don't like it, you know what you can do," he said.

In Edmonton, Mrs. Prudham, the minister's wife was not available but friends said the minister had not been feeling well before he set out on the trip.

Tragic Mountain Deaths Blamed On Inadequate Equipment, Leadership

BANFF, Alberta, (BUP) — A coroner's jury in Banff, Alberta has found inadequate leadership and equipment were responsible for the deaths of seven teen-age American climbers on Mount Temple, near Banff on July 11.

After 45 minutes of deliberation the jury foreman Cyril Paris of Banff, read the verdict which found the Park Department free of all blame and very efficient in their rescue work.

The jury found that all leadership and equipment of the wilderness camps was inadequate for this type of climbing and that the death of the American youths was caused from multiple injuries, shock and exposure.

Killed in the avalanche were Richard and Townsend Baylis, 13-year-old Philadelphia twins; Luther Seddon, St. Louis, Montana; William Wise, Soudertown, Pennsylvania; David Chapin, Stamford, Pennsylvania; Miles O. Marble, Collegeville Pennsylvania and William Watts of Philadelphia.

The seven boys who died in the avalanche were with a party of 11 attempting to climb Mount Temple. They were at the 9,500 foot mark and on their way down when the avalanche struck them. Two boys escaped uninjured and two were taken to hospital, where they recovered.

Chief Coroner, Dr. Max M. Cantor of Edmonton, heard nine witnesses Thursday in the second sitting of the inquest. An initial hearing was held in Banff, July 15.

The jury found that not only was the clothing of the climbers light and flimsy instead of weatherproof, but that they had used manila rope for the climb instead of nylon rope. However this last find proved to the advantage of the climbers, as the manila rope broke before pulling all the boys down with the avalanche.

ALL CLOVER BAR SCHOOL DIVISION TEACHERS ARE NOW ON STRIKE

EDMONTON — Seventy-six teachers under contract to the Clover Bar school division in suburban Edmonton went on strike Monday.

The Alberta Teachers' Association said the strike results from refusal of the school board to accept salary increases awarded by a provincial government board of arbitration.

Rudolph Hennig, chairman of the Clover Bar school board, said the board will issue a full statement on the dispute sometime this week. He said at the moment the board does not intend to hire teachers to replace the "76 who are still under contract to us."

The ATA said "if the school board does not accept the award before school opening the teachers will not return to their classrooms."

The ATA said the teachers believe the dispute centres on maximum salaries. Two arbitration board members recommended maximum salaries ranging from $100 to $300 higher than the 1953 schedule. The trustee arbitrator recommended a $100 increase in all maximum salaries.

The ATA reports all three arbitrators agreed on minimums and annual increments.

An advertisement in the Edmonton Sun last week set forth the ATA's position. A statement in a similar advertisement this week gives the School Board's side of the dispute.
